WEST SCRANTON GIVING

SERMON FOR YOUNG MEN

WAS DELIVERED BY REV. H. C. M'DERMOTT.

He Took for His Text the Words "Is the Young Man Absalom Safe." Mamie Ford Fatally Injured by Being Knocked Down by a Dog. Struck the Pavement with Such Force That Her Skull Was Fractured-John H. Thomas Married in Chicago-Other Notes.

Rev. H. C. McDermott, paster of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church. preached a sermon last evening to young men on the dangers that con front them in their daily life. His text was selected from the second Book of Samuel, xviii:28, "Is the Young Man Absalom Safe:" The discourse was an able one, and was attentively listened to. It was, in part, us follows:

to the young man Absolom safe This question came from the lips of a distressed father. Absolute was the third son of David. He raised an insurrection against the government of his father in an effort to overthrow the and make bimself king. The insurgen army he mustered and the regular forces of King David fought the de-cisive battle in a strip of wooded country, near Mahanaim, east of the Jordon. The rebels were utterly defeated. Absalom's steed in its flight carried him under the thick boughs of a great each, in which he became entangled by his hair and arms, and while string-pling to disentangle himself he was caught and slain, and the rebellion was at an end. But the first question the king addressed to the messenger who came with things of victory, was: "Is the young man Absalom safe?"

WAS UNPRINCIPLED.

Absolem was unprincipled and sel-fish; had disgraced his family and beer guilty of treason in the state, but David sincerely loved him and mourned for him. Our text shows the strength of the king was lost in the tenderness of the father. The old monarch with boary head and aching heart, awaiting in breathless anxiety things from the battle and crying out, 'Is the young man safe." is but the picture of many an anxious parent today as loving lips trembling ask, 'Is the young man

The young man of our free, fair country—the young man of our cities—the young man of our homes—is he safe! In the dangerous path of life the young man to be safe needs the companiouship of the loving Christ, To Rock of Ages and have underneath paratively small number are safe. We have a male population of about thirty-five millions in the United States. Of this number about nine millions are young men between the ages of 18 and 30. A correct statement of the per-centage of this vast number who are communicants in our churches of those who are regular or pregular at-tendants at divine worship and of those who habitually neglect worship ditogether-would be appalling.

There can be no safe popular morality without religious conviction and instruction. During my variation I spent ten days in a home with a young man who has not attended religious service in nine years. When we re-member there are several millions like him in our country, our text becomes painfully suggestive. The only encouriging feature is that more young mer han formerly are interested in relig-

SOURCE OF DEMORALIZATION. One of the most fruitful sources of demoralization to our young men is Subbath desceration. The spirit of our age is intensely worldly. It demands Sunday work and Sunday pleasure. Some of our great railroads make a greater display of activity on the Lord's day than any day of the week. Many business places are needlessly and wickedly open on that holy day then the Sunday newspapers comes i to fill up the measure of worldliness to the full. No young man is safe who recklessly descrates God's holy day. One who was entering a Brookly thirch some time ago on Sunday morning was persunded by a passing acquaintance to go to Coney Island instead. He plunged carelessly into the maeistrom of vice. Returning home intoxicated, while passing from one car o another, he fell from the train and as drawn under the cruel wheels was drawn under the cruel wheels. He lived less than an hour. His injuries sobered him. His tast message to his friends was: "Tell the boys to keep the Sunday, If I had kept this day holy I would not be here."

Then comes the saloon as a destroyer of youth. Recent statistics stroyer of youth. Recent statistics show that there are in round numbers two hundred and six thousand retail figuer dealers in this country. They have perhaps an average of twenty patrons each and the majority of these are young men. It is needless to say that it is not only unwise, but unsafe for any one to indulge in intoxicants,

THE SECRET SINS.

The sweet sins of the young are very real. With another we only point to the enervated intelligence, nervous dis-ease and impaired health of so snany young men as danger signals along this track of vice. Of thirty-two from New York examined some time since for castetship at West Point, only nine were accepted as physically sound. Pwenty-three were rejected on accounof constitutional weakness engendered through secret vice. And what of ambling, unclean literature and many other things? Young men are strong. They have made history. In every field of noble and heroic achievement many of the leaders have wrought with young brains in their heads and young dood in their veins. But that strength vill turn to weakness unless they avoid e sline pits I have named.

It was the opinion of Goethe that the lestiny of any nation at any given time depends on the opinions of the young men under (wenty-five. The young men are to shape our politics, give easte to our education, character to our churches, direction to our consuerce and destiny to this mighty republic
